RESILIENCY SKILL OF THE MONTH:

CITIZENSHIP

Mentorship and Citizenship go hand in hand. It is vital that we teach all our students how to practice good citizenship. After all, the actions of each individual person at home, in school, in communities, in states, in countries, and in the world impact all of us. It really helps determine what kind of world we are living in. Mentors are critical in teaching others how to be good citizens and stewards of the earth.

Check out this short video about being a good citizen.

Resiliency Skills

The State of Florida has implemented resiliency skills and standards throughout all grade levels. These skills are intentionally designed to impart the value of resiliency in early grades, such as volunteerism, responsibility, and goal setting, and then support students as they demonstrate those concepts in higher grades. The standards embed concepts of civic responsibility through citizenship and mentorship to not only help students understand the value of these ideas, but to actively engage in activities and exercises that will prepare them to be upstanding, responsible citizens.
